Foreword

This report examines data on DAC members' aid targeting the objective of gender equality in recent years. It is based on donors' reporting on bilateral Official Development Assistance (ODA) commitments to the Creditor Reporting System (CRS) Aid Activity Database and, in particular, the use of the gender equality policy marker to identify the relevant activities.

The report has been prepared by the DAC Secretariat in collaboration with the members of the DAC Working Party on Statistics and the DAC Network on Gender Equality. It contributes to the 10-year review of the implementation of the Beijing Declaration and Platform of Action at the 49th Session of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women, scheduled for 28 February – 11 March 2005 in New York. It is also intended to contribute to the 5-year review of the Millennium Declaration in September 2005.

Part 1 of the report contains an analysis of aid targeting the objective of gender equality over 1999-2003 in selected sectors (basic education, basic health including reproductive health, and water supply and sanitation). Part 2 records gender equality focused aid activities, with amounts and descriptions, in all sectors over 2002-2003.

The present report is a special edition of the publication CRS: Aid Activities. Five other reports present aid activities by region for 2003 and cover Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean, Europe and Oceania, and CEECs/NIS.

1. The members of the DAC are: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Ireland, Japan, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, the United States and the European Communities.

Avant-Propos

Ce rapport examine les données sur l'aide des membres du CAD visant l'égalité homme-femme ces dernières années. Il est basé sur les engagements d'aide publique au développement (APD) déclarés par les donateurs dans la base de données sur les Activités d'aide du Système de notification des pays créanciers (SNPC) ; il utilise en particulier le marqueur de la politique de l'aide défini pour identifier les activités visant l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme.

Ce texte a été préparé par le Secrétariat du CAD en collaboration avec les membres du Groupe de travail statistique du CAD et le réseau du CAD sur l'égalité homme-femme. Il contribue à l'examen de la mise en oeuvre de la Déclaration et Plateforme d'action de Pékin, 10 ans après, pour la 49^{ème} Session de la Commission des Nations unies sur la condition de la femme, du 28 février au 11 mars 2005 à New York. Il contribuera aussi à l'examen 5 ans après la Déclaration du Millénaire, en septembre 2005.

La partie I du rapport présente une analyse de l'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme dans une sélection de secteurs (éducation de base, santé de base et santé/fertilité, et la distribution d'eau et l'assainissement) sur la période 1999-2003. La partie II rassemble pour les années 2002-2003 les activités d'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme, avec leurs montants et leurs descriptions, dans tous les secteurs.

Le présent rapport est une édition spéciale de la publication SNPC : Activités d'aide. Les cinq autres rapports présentent les activités d'aide par région pour 2003 : Afrique, Asie, Amérique latine et Caraïbes, Europe et Océanie, et PECO/NEI.

INTRODUCTION: Basic aspects of the CRS Aid Activity database (Creditor Reporting System)

The CRS Aid Activity database includes data on Official Development Assistance (ODA), Official Aid (OA) and other lending to developing countries and countries in transition.

The CRS was established in 1967, jointly by the OECD and the World Bank, with the aim of “supplying the participants with a regular flow of data on indebtedness and capital flows”. Calculating capital flows and debt stock remain key functions of the system, but others have evolved in the course of years. In particular, the CRS aid activity database has become the internationally recognised source of data on the geographical and sectoral breakdown of aid and is widely used by governments, organisations and researchers active in the field of development. For DAC members, the CRS serves as a tool for monitoring specific policy issues, supplementing the information collected at the aggregate level in the annual DAC Statistics.

The CRS Aid Activity database comprises commitment and disbursement data on Official Development Assistance (ODA) and Official Aid (OA) activities in developing countries and countries in transition submitted by members of the DAC and multilateral institutions (between 30 000 – 45 000 transactions in recent years). Data in this publication refer to commitments, if not otherwise stated.

Amounts shown in this report have been converted to USD using the annual average exchange rates. In order to concentrate on the most relevant information, commitments of less than fifty thousand USD are not shown. Amounts have been aggregated by recipient and by donor for projects with same purpose codes, descriptions, and gender marker value. The exhaustive list of transactions may however be consulted in the CRS database at the following address: www.oecd.org/dac/stats/idsonline.

INTRODUCTION : La base de données SNPC sur les activités d'aide en bref (Système de notification des pays créanciers)

La base de données SNPC sur les activités d'aide comprend des données sur l'Aide publique au développement (APD), l'Aide publique (AP) et les autres prêts aux pays en développement et pays en transition.

Le SNPC a été établi en 1967 conjointement par l'OCDE et la Banque mondiale afin de fournir « régulièrement aux participants des renseignements sur l'endettement et les apports de moyens financiers ». Les statistiques sur les apports de ressources et le stock de la dette restent d'actualité, mais les fonctions du système ont évolué au cours des années. En particulier la base de données sur les activités d'aide est devenue la référence internationale sur la répartition géographique et sectorielle de l'aide et est largement utilisée par les gouvernements, organisations et chercheurs actifs dans le domaine de l'aide. Pour les membres du CAD, le SNPC est un outil de suivi des questions politiques spécifiques, qui complète les informations agrégées notifiées dans les statistiques annuelles du CAD.

La base de données sur les activités d'aide du SNPC comprend des données sur les engagements et les versements d'Aide publique au développement (APD) et d'Aide publique (AP) dans les pays en développement et les pays en transition par les membres du CAD et par des institutions multilatérales (de 30 000 à 45 000 transactions ces dernières années). Les données de cette publication portent sur les engagements, sauf indication particulière.

Les montants indiqués dans ce rapport ont été convertis en dollar des EU en utilisant les taux de change moyens annuels. Afin de mettre en évidence l'information la plus pertinente, les transactions d'un montant inférieur à cinquante mille USD ne sont pas présentées. Les montants sont cumulés par receveur et par donneur pour les projets qui ont le même code-objet, la même description et la même valeur de marqueur égalité homme-femme. La liste complète des transactions peut être consultée dans la base de données SNPC en ligne à l'adresse : www.oecd.org/cad/stats/sdienligne.

Main conclusions

- Aid in support of gender equality is concentrated in the social sectors, especially basic education and basic health (including population/reproductive health).
- About half of aid to these sectors targeted gender concerns in some way in 1999-2003. About 10% of assessed aid to these sectors was given for the main purpose of promoting gender equality.
- DAC members' reporting on the gender equality marker has improved in recent years. Some members experience difficulties in applying the methodology and there is a lack of comparable data from the multilaterals. This places limitations on the data analysis. The currently available marker data nevertheless give an indication of the extent to which most donors address gender equality in their aid programmes. While several DAC members appear to be implementing a mainstreaming strategy, several others promote gender equality through a relatively small number of activities targeted to women and girls.

Context

This report examines data on DAC members' aid targeting the objective of gender equality in recent years. It is based on donors' reporting on bilateral official development assistance (ODA) commitments to the Creditor Reporting System (CRS) Aid Activity Database and, in particular, the use of the gender equality policy marker to identify the relevant activities.

The report has been prepared by the DAC Secretariat in collaboration with the members of the DAC Working Party on Statistics and the DAC Network on Gender Equality. It contributes to the 10-year review of the implementation of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action at the 49th Session of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women, scheduled for 28 February – 11 March 2005 in New York.

The Beijing Platform for Action is a strategy for achieving gender equality through gender mainstreaming and women's empowerment. Not all actions adopted in the Platform for Action are covered in the report because of data constraints. The focus is on targeting gender equality in aid to basic education, basic health (including reproductive health) and water supply and sanitation. To ensure homogeneity of data, analysis has been restricted to commitments in 1999-2003.¹

The report is also intended to contribute to the 5-year review of the Millennium Declaration in September 2005. The data are relevant to several Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) with gender equality related targets². They do not, however, present a complete picture of DAC members' aid focused on these.

The report is structured as follows. Section 1 explains the gender equality marker and the data collection methodology. Section 2 defines the scope of the study. Section 3 describes the analytical approach and points out special features of the data for particular DAC members. Data analysis is presented in section 4. Finally, section 5 presents data on DAC members' contributions to the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM).

I. Definition of gender equality focused aid in DAC statistics and data collection methodology

Definition used in DAC statistics

Gender equality as a goal of development and development assistance efforts aims to achieve equality of benefit, resources and opportunity between women and men in aid recipient countries. Gender disparities may be addressed by:

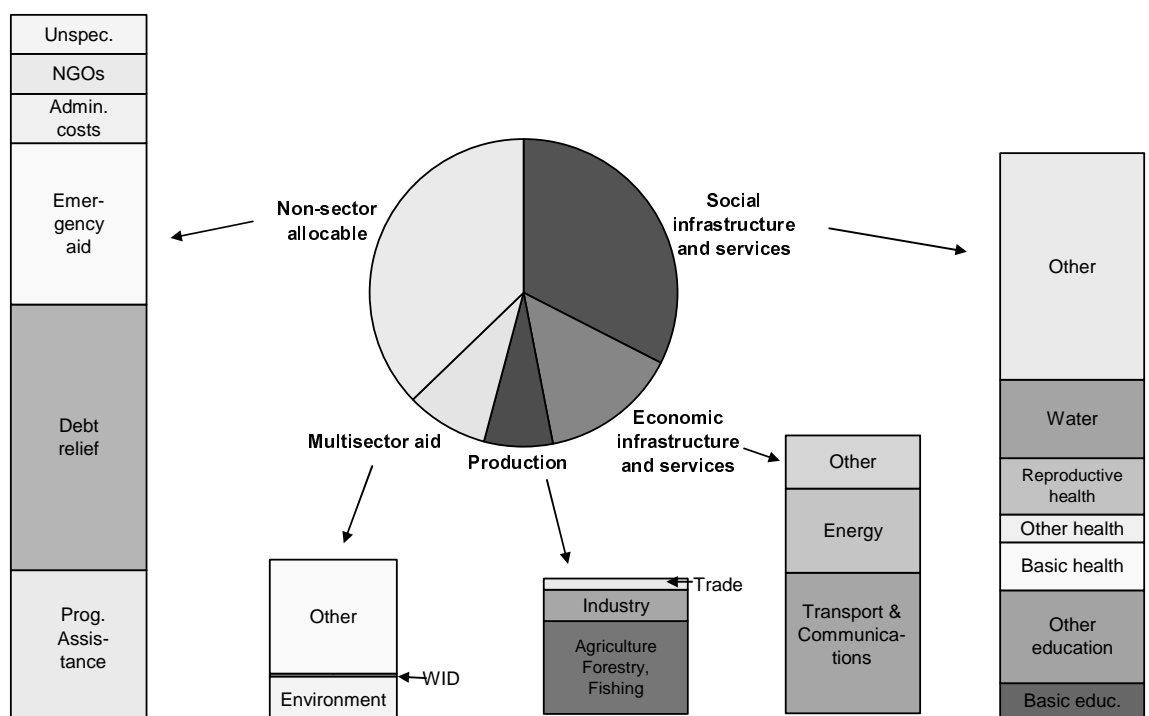

- (a) mainstreaming gender equality into all development co-operation efforts; and/or
- (b) positive actions to promote gender equality incorporating women in development activities.

² MDG 2 on universal primary education with the target of ensuring that, by 2015, children everywhere, boys and girls alike, will be able to complete a full course of primary schooling; MDG 3 on promoting gender equality and empowerment of women with the target of eliminating gender disparity in primary and secondary education, preferably by 2005, and in all levels of education no later than 2015; MDG 5 on improving maternal health with the target of reducing by three quarters, between 1990 and 2015, the maternal mortality ratio.

Graph 1 below presents DAC members' aid by purpose. Bilateral ODA in 1999-2003 for all DAC countries combined is broken down into five main categories: social infrastructure and services, economic infrastructure and services, production, multi-sector aid, and non-sector allocable aid. Each of the main categories is further divided into sectors/sub-categories. The goal of gender equality can be promoted through activities in all sectors. In DAC statistics, therefore, data collection on aid in support of gender equality is based on a marking system that identifies gender equality focused activities across the range of sectors.

Graph 1. The DAC sector classification, with sectors covered in this report highlighted

Note: The sectors selected for this study (marked with *) represented 12 % of DAC members' bilateral ODA in 1999-2003. Their share in bilateral sector-allocable ODA was 20%.

Methodology for identifying aid in support of gender equality

Gender equality policy marker

Data on aid in support of gender equality are collected in the Creditor Reporting System (CRS) Aid Activity Database with the help of the gender equality policy marker. In their reporting to the CRS, DAC members are asked to indicate for each individual aid activity whether or not it targets gender equality as one of its policy objectives.³ To qualify as “gender equality focused” the activity has to comply with the DAC definition of gender equality and meet a number of eligibility criteria that lay emphasis on gender analysis in the design of aid activities. The complete definition of the gender equality marker including the eligibility criteria is given in Annex 1.

³ The DAC collects policy marker data also on environmental sustainability, participatory development/good governance and the Rio Conventions.

An activity can target gender equality either as a “principal objective” or “significant objective”. Principal (score “2”) means gender equality was an explicit objective of the activity and fundamental in its design (i.e. the activity would not have been undertaken without this objective). Significant (score “1”) means gender equality was an important, but secondary, objective of the activity (i.e. not one of the principal reasons for undertaking the activity). Not targeted (score “0”) means that the activity was screened for promoting gender equality, but was found to not be targeted to it. The reporting directives note also that activities which achieve a marker for gender equality as a principal objective are no “better” than those with the significant objective score. If mainstreaming is practised, gender equality will often be a significant objective, integrated into projects, across the range of sectors.

It should be highlighted that the gender equality marker incorporates those women in development (WID) activities which can be allocated to specific sectors (providing the criteria for eligibility are fulfilled).⁴

Women in development sector code

Some data on gender equality focused aid are assembled also with the help of the sector/purpose classification through a category titled “women in development (WID)”. This is defined to cover “multi sectoral WID projects and programmes; promotion and support to WID groups and networks, conferences, seminars etc.”⁵ Such activities are often of low monetary value and the category therefore hardly visible in standard statistics on aid by purpose. In 2003 they represented 0.1% of DAC members’ total bilateral ODA commitments. But the number of activities (400-600 in a total of 45000 per year in recent years) is not insignificant. Some members use this category to classify women’s rights programmes, actions against gender violence, and women entrepreneurship/income generating activities.

2. Scope of the report

Data on aid in support of gender equality presented in this report relate to DAC members’ bilateral ODA commitments in 1999-2003 that have been reported as targeting the objective of gender equality as a principal or significant objective. However, not all purpose categories of Graph 1 are covered. Non-sector allocable aid is excluded since several members do not apply the gender equality marker on these forms of aid.⁶

Graph 2 below illustrates DAC members’ total bilateral sector-allocable ODA in 1999-2003 and compares its sectoral breakdown with that of gender equality focused aid (principal or significant objective). It suggests that, relatively, activities in certain sectors are more focused on gender equality than activities in other sectors. The social sectors accounted for two-thirds of total gender equality focused aid (inner circle) whereas they represented less than a half of total bilateral sector-allocable aid (outer circle). Gender equality is less emphasised in aid to economic infrastructure and services and the production sectors. Comparable analysis based on the number of reported activities confirms the focus on the social sectors, in particular health and reproductive health.⁷

⁶ This category includes programme assistance, debt relief and emergency aid. While programme assistance (budget support, developmental food aid and import support) or debt relief operations could be used to promote gender equality, this could only be done indirectly, for example by making aid conditional to the implementation of certain policy reforms. The eligibility criteria of the gender equality marker are clearly unsuitable for screening short-term distress relief operations after disasters, which constitute the bulk of emergency aid.

Given the sectoral focus and the importance placed on women's education and health in the Beijing Platform for Action, it was decided to concentrate this report on these two sectors. Basic education and basic health (including population/reproductive health) were selected for in-depth study as members' reporting on the gender equality marker is more complete than for aid to education and health in general. Water supply and sanitation is also covered since it is closely related to these (clean water as a pre-condition for good health, basic sanitation for girls attending schools). Gender focused aid in the government and civil society sector (likely to cover themes such as women's political participation, violence against women, women's human rights, women and conflict) would merit a report of its own, since although its volume is small (15% of the total), there are a large number and great variety of activities involved.

Gender-related activities form a smaller share of aid to other sectors, but are quite significant in total. To give some indication of the variety of gender equality focused aid allocations, the listing of activities attached to this report covers all sector/purpose categories for 2002-2003.

Average annual value of commitments covered: inner circle USD 3.1 billion, outer circle USD 17.2 billion

N.B. Based only on members who report on the gender equality marker (see Table 1) accounting for 60 % of DAC members' total sector allocable ODA in 1999-2003.

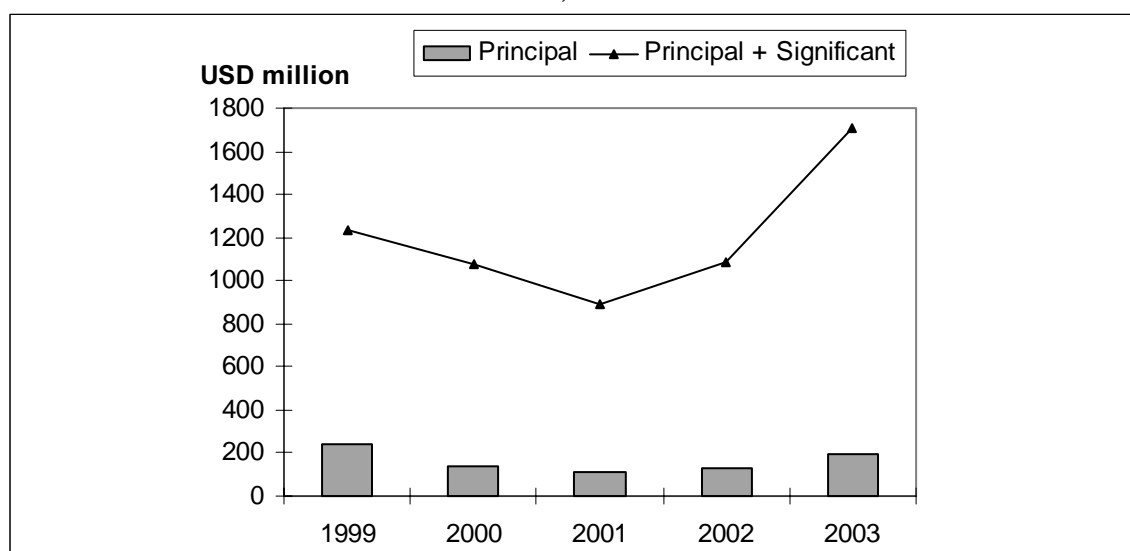

3. Guidance for analysis and interpretation of gender equality marker data

Gender equality marker data should be considered as the best estimates of aid that DAC members allocate in support of gender equality. (All data are on a commitments basis.) The financial information (i.e. how much will be spent on gender equality) is less precise for activities marked "significant" than for those marked "principal".

- Activities with “principal objective” marker scores can be considered as contributing to the objective in their full amount.
- For activities with “significant objective” marker scores, it is possible that only a proportion of an activity is focused on gender equality, whereas the amount recorded in the database relates to the entire activity.⁸

Graph 3 below illustrates this distinction with marker data for basic education, basic health (including reproductive health) and water supply and sanitation for years 1999-2003. The bars represent activities with “principal objective” marker scores (i.e. activities that contribute to gender equality in their full amount). Activities with “significant objective” marker scores have been added to show the upper limit of aid focused on gender equality in these sectors. The exact amount of aid contributing to gender equality is somewhere between the top of the bars and the line.

Graph 3. Gender equality focused aid to basic education, basic health (including reproductive health) and water supply and sanitation in 1999-2003
Commitments, millions of USD

The completeness of donors’ reporting has to be taken into account of course in data analysis. Table 1 below gives an overview of the status of reporting on the gender equality marker as of December 2004. Fifteen DAC members provide marker data regularly to the CRS. For eleven members, data can be considered as reasonably complete. Five members apply the markers only to a part of their bilateral aid programme (usually activities of the main aid agency). Many have set a threshold to reduce the administrative burden of marking or decided not to screen certain forms of aid. For seven members, data are either missing or very incomplete. Since these include major donors such as France or the United States, it is difficult to produce estimates on gender equality focused aid at the total DAC level. Totals by donor can be calculated but not for all sectors.

⁸ As most members’ systems do not allow for splitting the value of activities by different objectives and sub-sectors, the DAC system too classifies activities to the major sector/objective that the activity addresses.

Table 1. Reporting on gender equality marker in the CRS as of December 2004: coverage in relation to total bilateral ODA and year from which data available

DAC members	Year from which data available	Notes on coverage
Data reasonably complete	Out of total amount of ODA reported to the CRS, total marked represents more than 90%.
Australia, Austria, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal	1997	For Australia, no marking in 2000.
Japan, Sweden	1998	For Japan, data exclude technical co-operation before 2003.
Greece, New Zealand	2002
European Commission	2003	Note also major improvement in the overall coverage of reporting in 2003.
Partial data	Out of total amount of ODA reported to the CRS, total marked represents 50-90%.
Belgium, Finland, Germany	1997	In Belgium, no marking by decentralised administration (communes, regions). In Germany, BMZ, GTZ and KfW screen allocations but not the Länder.
Canada, United Kingdom	1998	In Canada, CIDA screens activities financed within its geographic programme. DFID screens activities larger than 100 000 £.
Missing or incomplete data	Out of total amount of ODA reported to the CRS, total marked represents less than 50%.
Italy, Switzerland	1997	In Italy, Mediocredito screens ODA loans, no marking by DGCS. For Switzerland, no marking in 2003.
Spain	2002	AECI screens allocations, but incomplete marking by decentralised administration. Supplied estimates specifically for this report, and identified some limitations to the gender marker system.
France, Ireland, Luxembourg, United States	..	No marking, except in 2001 for United States. France provided examples of gender equality focused activities (see Annex 3).

Graph 4 below illustrates the completeness of gender marker data for years 1999-2003 in the sectors of basic education, basic health (including reproductive health) and water supply and sanitation. It compares the total amount of activities with “principal”, “significant” and “not targeted” scores with the total amount of activities that have not been screened against the marker and so for which the gender equality focus is “unknown”.¹⁰ The United States accounts for 72% of the unknown.

The United States has explained that one of the reasons for non-reporting is the large number of agencies and government departments involved in aid delivery.¹¹ The same applies for

¹¹ Although there has been no gender identifier in the budget system of USAID since 2001.

France. Countries with a decentralised aid administration (e.g. Belgium and Spain) have experienced difficulties in collecting gender equality marker data from local and regional governments, whereas for some others marker data on aid to NGOs is difficult to collect. For Ireland non-reporting is a systems issue. Luxembourg has incorporated the gender equality dimension to all “indicative co-operation programmes” it has signed with its 10 programme countries since 2002. It will be able to report data on gender equality focused aid activities from 2005 onwards. In general it can be noted that the definition of the gender equality marker and the eligibility criteria are rather complicated for non-specialists in gender matters.

Graph 4. Coverage of reporting on gender equality focused aid to basic education, basic health (including reproductive health) and water supply and sanitation in 1999-2003
Commitments, millions of USD

Note: To reduce the proportion of “unknown”, members with missing or incomplete reporting on the gender equality marker were asked if they could fill the marker data gap in the selected sectors specifically for this report. Spain was able to do so. France, Ireland, Luxembourg, Switzerland and the United States explained this was not feasible. No reply was received from Italy.

4. Data analysis

This section is based on the gender equality marker data reported by 18 out of 23 DAC members.¹² Over the 5-year period 1999-2003 these accounted for 69 % of total DAC aid to basic education, 58 % of aid to basic health, 30 % of aid population/reproductive health, and 84 % of aid to water supply and sanitation.

4.1 Gender equality focused aid to basic education

The Beijing Platform for Action aims at women’s empowerment and in that context defines twelve critical areas of concern. It sets a number of strategic objectives for each and suggests that all actors – governments, the international community and civil society – focus action and resources on them. Inequalities and inadequacies in education and training are one of the critical areas of concern. The strategic objectives related to it are the following: (1) ensure equal access to education; (2) eradicate illiteracy among women; (3) improve women’s access to vocational training, science and technology, and continuing education; (4) develop non-discriminatory education and training; and (5) allocate sufficient resources for and monitor the implementation of educational reforms.

¹² Data for the European Commission are excluded from all charts since the major change in the coverage of its reporting would impede trend analysis.

DAC statistics on aid to education give some indication on the extent to which aid allocations are focused on the five strategic objectives. The definitions of the education sector sub-categories (see Annex 2) suggest:

- Actions to ensure equal access to education and to eradicate illiteracy among women are classed under aid to basic education.
- Actions to improve women's access to vocational training, science and technology are classed under aid to secondary and tertiary education.
- Aid in support of educational reforms is classed under the category "education, level unspecified", defined to cover education sector programmes, aid to education ministries, and curriculum and materials development (when the level of education is unknown).

Aid to education accounted for 14 % of DAC countries' total sector-allocable ODA in 1999-2003 and aid to basic education 23 % of their total aid to education. Table 2 below presents data for years 1999-2003 for individual DAC members. It shows that the trend in aid to basic education is positive over the five-year period, both in absolute and relative terms, for half of the members.¹³ Graph 5 illustrates the gender equality focus of aid to basic education during the same period. Allocations that targeted gender equality as a principal or significant objective decreased during 1999-2001, but a significant increase is observed in 2003. Graph 6 confirms the absence of an overall trend in the share of gender equality focused aid in total aid to basic education.

Note that Graphs 5 and 6 are based on commitments (as opposed to disbursements). Commitments vary considerably from year to year, and careful analysis is necessary before identifying trends from one or two years' data. In fact, analysis of the data for individual donors at the activity level shows that the increase in 2003 is largely explained by just a few commitments (even though the number of gender equality focused activities also increased in that year).

- Principal objective: The Netherlands committed USD 17 million to primary education in India. Sweden reported its commitments to UNICEF's Girls education programme in Afghanistan and the education sector programme in Namibia (both USD 15 million).
- Significant objective: Australia committed over USD 40 million to basic education development and capacity building in Papua New Guinea. Norway committed close to USD 50 million and Canada over USD 40 million in support of the multi-year primary education development programme in Bangladesh. The United Kingdom reported large commitments for the education sector programmes in Ghana and South Africa (USD 50 million and USD 32 million respectively), primary education for disadvantaged children in Viet Nam and basic education in China (both USD 43 million).

It is important to recall also that the data presented above measure donors' intentions. The fact that an activity has been reported as gender equality focused does not necessarily mean it was possible to attain the objective within the activity. While this comment is true for all data presented in this report, it is particularly relevant to the large commitments cited above a number of which are sector programmes. Discussions in the DAC Network on Gender Equality (GENDERNET) have suggested that integrating gender equality actions into sector programmes remains a challenge. Case studies on experience so far have shown that SWAps in the education sector have focused on increasing female enrolment in basic schooling while ignoring the wider conditions that contribute to low female attendance in the first place.¹⁴

Data for the entire five-year period 1999-2003 show that, on average, 13 % of aid to basic education was extended with gender equality as principal objective. About 50% of aid to basic education had gender equality as a significant objective.¹⁵ The activity descriptions suggest that the former mainly includes basic education programmes dedicated to women and girls. The latter typically support primary education in general (construction of schools, delivery of school books and other materials, etc.) which could be an indication of mainstreaming. Table 3 below shows the gender equality focus of aid to basic education for individual DAC members.

4.2 Gender equality focused aid to basic health

Another critical area of concern of the Beijing Platform for Action is women's health. The Platform for Action draws attention to unequal access to basic health care services for the prevention and treatment of diseases, but also to unequal opportunities for the protection, promotion and maintenance of health. It raises a wide range of questions concerning reproductive health such as the impact of early marriage and motherhood on educational and employment opportunities, complications related to pregnancy and child-birth as the leading cause of mortality of women, or social vulnerability and unequal power relationships between women and men as an obstacle to women's efforts to control the spread of HIV/AIDS. Women's health is treated also from a human rights perspective. In all areas inequality¹⁶ is identified as the major barrier to progress.

As in the case of education and training, the Platform for Action sets a number of strategic objectives to guide development actors in the targeting of actions and resources. These are grouped under the following headings: (1) increase women's access throughout the life cycle to appropriate, affordable and quality health care, information and related services; (2) strengthen preventive programmes that promote women's health; (3) undertake gender-sensitive initiatives that address sexually transmitted diseases, HIV/AIDS, and sexual and reproductive health issues; (4) promote research and disseminate information on women's health; and (5) increase resources and monitor follow-up for women's health.

In DAC statistics, aid in support of the above five strategic objectives is generally classified under the health and population/reproductive health sectors. But health-related contributions can be found under other sectors too. Preventive programmes that promote women's health could be incorporated in adult literacy programmes and thus be part of aid to basic education. Ensuring women's access to social security systems would fall under the social/welfare services category. Water supply and sanitation is in DAC statistics a sector of its own (see section 4.3 below). This implies that the statistics presented below should not be considered as DAC members' total aid in support of the health related objectives of the Platform for Action. The approach is rather to first identify in DAC statistics a few subsets of data that are highly relevant to the Platform for Action, and then examine the extent to which activities within these sub-sets address gender equality concerns.

Table 4 below presents data on DAC members' aid to health, basic health and population/reproductive health for years 1999-2003.¹⁷ Aid to health accounted for 7 % of DAC members' total sector-allocable ODA in 1999-2003 and aid to reproductive health 5 %. Within the health sector, an increasing focus on basic health is observed. Its share in total aid to health increased from 53% in 1999-2000 to 62% in 2001-2003.

Graph 7 illustrates the gender equality focus of aid to basic health during the same period. Allocations that targeted gender equality as a principal objective decreased, whereas those with gender equality as a significant objective show a more positive trend. As opposed to the basic education sector, the phenomenon of large commitments does not explain the variations from one year to another. The amounts reported by individual donors have remained relatively stable over the period.

¹⁶ Both between men and women and among women in different geographical regions, social classes and indigenous and ethnic groups.

¹⁷ In DAC statistics, aid to health and aid to reproductive health are identified as separate sectors. For definitions, see Annex 2.

For the 18 DAC members that have reported gender equality marker data on aid to basic health, it can be noted that in the five-year period 1999-2003 on average 5 % of aid to basic health was extended with gender equality as principal objective and 37 % with gender equality as significant objective.¹⁸

- A large share of activities reported with the principal objective marker score relate to maternal and infant child care (safe motherhood programmes, construction of maternal clinics or financing related equipment) but general basic health care programmes have been reported too.
- Activities with gender equality as a significant objective vary from financing basic health infrastructure and hospital equipment to programmes for tuberculosis, measles and other communicable disease control. The largest activities include the health sector programmes in Uganda and Zambia, support to basic health infrastructure and services in India and national nutrition programme in Bangladesh (all involving several donors).

¹⁸ The share calculated on the basis of the number of reported activities was 7% for principal and 27% for significant.

Aid to population programmes and reproductive health seems more gender equality focused with 11% of the total amount of activities with principal objective scores and 50% with significant objective scores over the period 1999-2003.¹⁹ (See Table 6 below for data for individual donors.) Graph 8 illustrates the trend which is positive. The significant increase in 2003 is probably explained by a general increase in the financing of HIV/AIDS control activities. In the reproductive health sector, over one half of the total amount of activities marked with the principal objective and over 60% of activities marked with the significant objective score were for HIV/AIDS control.

Graphs 9 and 10 recall that this information has to be considered in perspective. Activities screened against the gender equality marker covered less than a half of total DAC aid to basic health and only about 30% of total aid to reproductive health.²⁰ For the remainder the gender equality focus is unknown. The fact that the United States, by far the largest donor in these two sectors, is not able to report on the gender equality marker constitutes an impediment for a comprehensive analysis.²¹

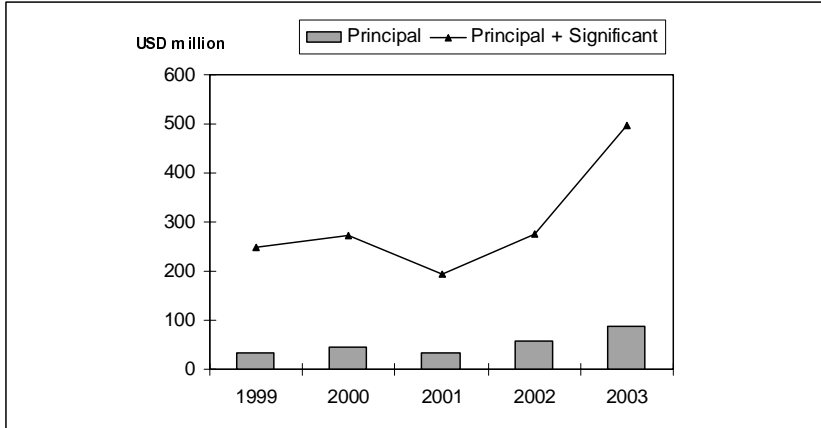

¹⁹ The share calculated on the basis of the number of reported activities was 20% for principal and 38% for significant.

²¹ In the reproductive health sector the United States accounts for more than 90% of the unknown.

France, another large donor, would have the same effect in sectors such as education, as possibly would smaller donors for analyses carried out at the level of individual recipient countries.

4.3 Gender equality focused aid to water supply and sanitation

The Beijing Platform for Action makes only one reference to water supply and sanitation. It notes that inadequate access to safe water and sanitation facilities, particularly in rural and poor urban areas, has a negative effect on women's health. This is certainly true, but water-borne diseases are only one facet of water deprivation. It is primarily women who bear the responsibility for the laborious and time-consuming task of fetching water for domestic uses in rural areas. The more time women spend on fetching water, the less time they have for income generating activities. In some areas water collecting may be the reason for girls not attending schools. Furthermore, promoting gender equality in water-related aid activities should not be limited only to domestic uses of water but also consider its productive use. Water is needed for agricultural production, raising livestock, and various small industries and craft (e.g. brick-making or pottery). Irrigation can thus be a way to improve poor women's livelihoods. Consequently, gender equality focused aid for water-related activities may address not only the health aspects of the Beijing Platform for Action but also the issue of women and poverty.

Table 7 below presents DAC members' annual average commitments to water supply and sanitation²² for years 1999-2003. Graphs 11 and 12 illustrate their gender equality focus. As opposed to the other sectors examined in this report, there is no great difference between activities marked with principal and significant objective scores. The activity descriptions indicate that gender equality focused aid in the water sector relates mainly to water supply and sanitation in rural areas. The activities "not targeted" include large infrastructure projects sometimes worth hundreds of millions of dollars.

On average 18% of total aid for water in 1999-2003 had been marked with the significant objective score.²³ The share has varied somewhat from one year to another. Table 8 shows the positions of individual members.

²³ The share calculated on the basis of the number of activities was 22%.

4.4 Breakdown of gender equality focused aid by region and income group

Graph 13 illustrates differences in members' support to gender equality focused aid activities between regions over 1999-2003. (The total amount of activities not screened against the gender equality marker is shown in the graphs for reference but is excluded from the percentage calculations below. See footnote 10.)

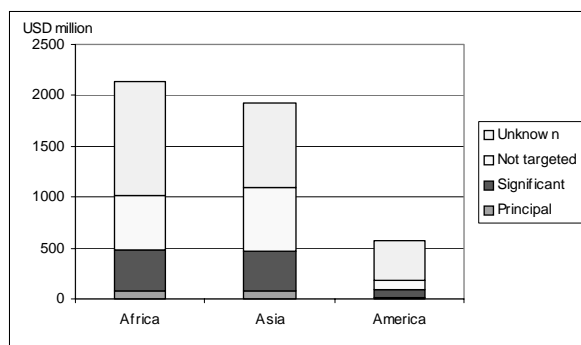

- Aid to basic education was more gender focused in Africa and in America (South and Central) than in Asia. In the former regions, two thirds of aid to basic education had been marked with significant or principal objective whereas in Asia the share was 57%.
- For basic health, there is no regional focus of gender equality support: in each region half of aid was gender focused.
- Africa was by far the main recipient of aid to population/reproductive health, but the objective of gender equality was slightly less targeted in this region (63% was gender focused) than in Asia and America (78% and 70% respectively).
- Aid to the water sector had a strong gender focus in Africa: more than half of aid for water was gender focused in this region, whereas the share was only 10% in Asia (main recipient in this sector) and 19% in America.

- Aid to basic education was strongly focused on gender equality in all groups (67% in MICs, 64% in LDCs, and 58% in OLICs).
- Aid to basic health was less gender focused in OLICs (35%) than in LDCs and MICs where half of aid was marked with a significant or principal objective.
- Aid to population/reproductive health was strongly gender focused in all groups, especially LDCs (75% in LDCs, 64% in OLICs and 55% in MICs).
- Aid to water supply and sanitation is not much targeted to the gender equality objective in general, but is strongly focused on this objective in LDCs, where half of aid is gender focused (18% in OLICs and 12% in MICs).

5. Gender-focused multilateral aid

The analysis of DAC members' bilateral aid targeting the objective of gender equality needs to be supplemented with a note on their multilateral aid in support of this objective. The main United Nations (UN) agency active in this field is the UN Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM) but the UN Population Fund (UNFPA) and UNICEF also carry out numerous gender equality focused activities.

- UNIFEM works to promote gender equality between women and men and to advance the status of women.
- UNFPA's mandate covers reproductive health and population issues. It promotes gender equality through actions in the following areas: women's empowerment, gender-based violence, harmful practices, human trafficking, gender and HIV.
- One of UNICEF's priorities is to achieve quality basic education for all, especially girls, through its "Girls' education programme". But gender is also an integral aspect of all areas of UNICEF's work.

Table 9 below presents data on DAC members' core contributions²⁴ to UNIFEM by donor in 1999-2003. The total annual average amount of USD 20 million can be counted as aid in support of gender equality in full (but its use is not limited to sectors covered in this report). By contrast, only a part of DAC members' core contributions to UNFPA and UNICEF are used for gender equality focused programmes. Multilateral agencies do not report gender equality marker data to the CRS, so their share in the total is unknown. If gender equality focus of DAC members' bilateral aid was used as a proxy for this share, the gender equality focused aid by UNFPA and UNICEF in the sectors of interest for this study could be estimated to be of the order of USD 200 million.²⁵

Data reported in DAC statistics by the other UN agencies are less detailed than those of UNFPA and UNICEF. They cannot be presented in sectoral analyses, such as this report, on a basis comparable to those of bilateral donors. Activity level data are available for the multilateral development banks. However, the extent to which the marker methodology could be applied to their activities remains to be defined.

²⁵ For UNFPA, the annual average core budget expenditure on population/reproductive health was USD 275 million in 2001-2003. For UNICEF, the annual average amounts spent over 2001-2003 on the sectors studied were as follows: USD 54 million for basic education, USD 91 million for basic health, USD 42 million for population/reproductive health, and USD 22 million for water supply and sanitation. The total amount of UNFPA and UNICEF core budget expenditure relevant to this study was USD 434 million.

GENDER EQUALITY INCORPORATING WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT (WID)
DEFINITION	Gender equality as a goal of development and development assistance efforts aims to achieve equality of benefit, resources and opportunity between women and men in aid recipient countries. Gender disparities may be addressed by: (a) mainstreaming gender equality into all development co-operation efforts; and/or (b) positive actions to promote gender equality incorporating women in development (WID) activities.
CRITERIA FOR ELIGIBILITY	(a) Gender equality and/or women in development (WID) is explicitly promoted in activity documentation; and (b) Gender analysis has been carried out, either separately or as an integral part of standard procedures, demonstrating the need to promote equality and/or women in development (WID); and (c) Gender analysis has been incorporated into activity design so that the activity meets a number of the following criteria: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Gender sensitive strategies and implementation plans are incorporated and reflected in the activity budget. – Specific means have been designed to help overcome identified barriers to women’s full participation in the activity. – Specific means have been included to help to ensure equitable participation and control by women and men over the activity output. – Gender sensitive indicators including impact indicators have been or will be developed for monitoring and evaluation. – Gender skills are used in design and will be used in implementation and monitoring. – Gender sensitive consultation is carried out at all levels and stages.
EXAMPLES OF TYPICAL ACTIVITIES	Any activity may be marked against this marker if the above criteria for eligibility [(a)-(c)] are fulfilled. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – An example of an activity that could be marked as principal objective is support to legal literacy for women or support to male networks against gender violence. Such an activity could target women specifically, men specifically or both women and men. – Many water projects, health projects, forestry projects, civil service projects, public expenditure reviews are likely to have a significant objective mark depending on the extent and way gender issues are to be addressed. – Projects in the same sector may score differently depending on the importance of equality as an objective. For example, a social safety net project which focuses specifically on assisting women as a particularly disadvantaged group in a society thus promotes gender equality and would be marked with a principle objective score. A social safety net project which focuses on the community as a whole and ensures that women as well as men are involved would be marked with a significant objective score. See also Appendix: Additional guidance note on marking.

APPENDIX

Gender Equality incorporating Women in Development (WID): Additional Guidance on Marking

1. This marker differs from the previous WID marker in that the focus is on gender equality (that is equality between women and men) as an objective rather than on women as a target group.
2. Nevertheless, it includes women in development (WID) activities (providing the criteria for eligibility are fulfilled). The WID specific activities are incorporated into an overall gender equality approach. The new marker is thus broader than the former WID marker. (As before, where it is appropriate, the WID sector code may be used.) Members no longer using the term WID in their internal procedures should ignore the references to women in development in the marker definition and eligibility criteria.
3. Gender analysis may be carried out at national (e.g. gender profiles), community or institutional levels. It may be carried out separately or as part of standard procedures (the logical framework design process etc.). Gender analysis is probably most effective when it is an integrated part of the policy, programme and project planning process.
4. Achieving a marker for gender equality as a principal objective is not “better” than achieving a marker for gender equality as a significant objective, although the former scores “2” and the latter “1”. If true mainstreaming is practised, gender equality will often be a significant objective, integrated into projects, across the range of sectors.
5. Gender equality is explicitly promoted in activity documentation. This means that the documentation should clearly show what steps will be taken towards this long-term goal. For example, a primary school project might be designed to benefit both boys and girls but, since a smaller proportion of girls than boys presently receive primary education, the project would take steps to increase the proportion of girls benefiting. In order to score against this marker activities should have the objective of taking steps towards furthering gender equality although full equality may be beyond the scope of this project/programme. The concept of gender equality acknowledges that different treatment of women and men may sometimes be required to achieve sameness of results, because of different life conditions or to compensate for past discrimination.
6. A principal mark is normally given where the activity would not have been undertaken without a gender equality objective. The paired example below distinguishes between principal and significant marks:
 - a) After carrying out a gender analysis it is found that the majority of farmers in a particular area are women. An agricultural extension project aims to hire and train substantial numbers of women in order that women gain equal access to extension services. This project would be marked with gender equality incorporating women in development (WID) as a principal objective (i.e. “2”).
 - b) An agricultural extension project is planned with the aim of increasing crop production in a particular area. During the pre-design phase a gender analysis pointed to the need to carry out specific actions to involve women. A homestead vegetable production co-operative was therefore set up as part of the overall project. This project would be marked with gender equality incorporating women in development (WID) as a significant objective (i.e. “1”).
7. Each Member, depending on their organisation and the specific circumstances, may determine the number of design criteria which need to be met to achieve a marker.
8. Members may decide whether they wish to use “gender equality” or “equality between women and men” when translating the marker into their own language.

ANNEX 3. Examples of gender equality focused aid activities financed by France

The statistical reporting systems of France do not allow for reporting on the gender equality marker. For the purposes of this study France provided nevertheless the following examples of gender equality focused activities financed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in 1999-2003:

- € 2.1 million, through UNFPA, for improving reproductive health and the status of women and young girls (Côte d'Ivoire and Madagascar);
- € 1.5 million, through ILO, for social protection of women in the informal sector (Burkina Faso, Ethiopia and Viet Nam);
- € 2.3 million, through UNICEF, for reinforcing children's rights with focus on genital mutilation and sexual exploitation of children (Cape Verde, Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chad, Ghana and Guinea);
- € 2.3 million, through UNIFEM, for promoting women's rights (Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia, Jordan, Lebanon and the Palestinian administered areas);
- € 1.2 million for promoting gender equality in the framework of reconstruction of Afghanistan ("women's garden" and "women's institute" in Kabul);
- € 0.7 million in support of a reproductive health and sexual education project involving south-south co-operation between Tunisia and Niger;
- € 0.7 million in support of local NGOs in Eastern and South Eastern Europe working on women's rights and trafficking.

The French Development Agency (Agence française de développement – AFD) promotes gender equality as a cross-cutting objective. Operational instructions on how to address gender equality concerns in operations financed by AFD were developed in 2001.

PARTIE 1 : Analyse de l'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme,

Principales conclusions

- L'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme est concentrée dans les secteurs sociaux, et particulièrement dans l'éducation de base et la santé de base (y compris la santé et fertilité).
- A peu près la moitié de l'aide dans ces secteurs vise l'égalité homme-femme d'une manière ou d'une autre en 1999-2003. Environ 10% de l'aide examinée pour ces secteurs ont pour objectif principal la promotion de l'égalité homme-femme.

Contexte

Ce rapport examine les données sur l'aide des membres du CAD qui vise l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme sur les dernières années. Il est basé sur les engagements d'aide publique au développement (APD) déclarés dans la base de données sur les Activités d'aide du Système de notification des pays créanciers (SNPC) ; il utilise le marqueur de la politique de l'aide défini pour identifier les activités qui visent l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme.

Ce texte a été préparé par le Secrétariat du CAD en collaboration avec les membres du Groupe de travail statistique du CAD et le réseau du CAD sur l'égalité homme-femme. Il contribue à l'examen de la mise en oeuvre de la Déclaration de Pékin et de la Plateforme d'action, 10 ans après, pour la 49^{ème} Session de la Commission des Nations unies sur la condition de la femme, du 28 février au 11 mars 2005 à New York.

La Plateforme d'action de Pékin propose une stratégie pour parvenir à l'égalité homme-femme par l'intégration du genre et le développement du pouvoir des femmes. Ce rapport ne couvre pas toutes les actions adoptées par la Déclaration de Pékin, en raison de contraintes relatives aux données. L'accent est mis sur l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme dans les secteurs de l'aide à l'éducation de base, l'aide à la santé de base (y compris population/santé et fertilité), et la distribution d'eau et l'assainissement. Pour assurer l'homogénéité des données, l'examen est limité aux engagements de 1999-2003.¹

Le rapport vise aussi à contribuer à l'examen 5 ans après la Déclaration du Millénaire, prévu pour septembre 2005. Les données sont pertinentes vis-à-vis de plusieurs Objectifs du Millénaire pour le Développement (OMD) qui comprennent un certain nombre de cibles liées à l'égalité homme-femme.² Elles ne présentent pas néanmoins une image complète de l'aide des membres du CAD visant ces cibles.

Le rapport est structuré de la manière suivante. La section 1 présente la méthodologie et le marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme. La section 2 définit la portée de l'étude. La section 3 décrit l'approche analytique et met en évidence des caractéristiques particulières des données pour certains membres. L'analyse des données est présentée dans la section 4. Enfin, la section 5 présente des données sur les contributions des membres au Fonds de développement des Nations unies pour les femmes (UNIFEM).

Définition utilisée dans les statistiques du CAD

Le graphique 1 ci-dessous présente la répartition sectorielle de l'aide des membres du CAD. L'APD bilatérale de l'ensemble des pays du CAD en 1999-2003 est répartie en cinq grandes catégories : infrastructure et services sociaux, infrastructure et services économiques, production, aide plurisectorielle et aide non allouée par secteur. Chacune des cinq grandes catégories est ensuite divisée en sous catégorie/secteur. L'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme peut être visé à travers des activités dans tous les secteurs. Dans les statistiques du CAD, par conséquent, la collecte des données sur l'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme est basée sur un système de marquage qui identifie les activités visant l'égalité homme-femme à travers tous les secteurs.

Engagements bilatéraux d'APD en 1999-2003

Note : Les secteurs retenus pour cette étude (marqués *) représentent 12 % de l'APD bilatérale des membres du CAD en 1999-2003. Leur part dans l'APD bilatérale allouée par secteurs s'élève à 20%.

Les données sur l'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme sont collectées dans la base de données sur les Activités d'aide du Système de notification des pays créanciers (SNPC) à l'aide du marqueur de l'objectif politique de l'égalité homme-femme. Dans leurs déclarations au SNPC, les membres du CAD sont invités à indiquer pour chaque activité individuelle d'aide si oui ou non elle vise l'égalité homme-femme comme l'un de ses objectifs politiques.³ Pour être retenue comme « visant l'égalité homme-femme », l'activité doit correspondre à la définition du CAD de l'égalité homme-femme et satisfaire un certain nombre de critères d'éligibilité qui mettent l'accent sur l'analyse de l'égalité homme-femme dans la conception des activités d'aide. La définition complète du marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme, y compris les critères d'éligibilité, est présentée en Annexe 1.

Une activité peut viser l'égalité homme-femme soit comme « objectif principal » soit comme « objectif significatif ». L'objectif principal (valeur « 2 ») signifie que l'égalité homme-femme était un objectif explicite de l'activité et fondamental dans sa conception (i.e. l'activité n'aurait pas été entreprise sans cet objectif). L'objectif significatif (valeur « 1 ») signifie que l'égalité homme-femme était un objectif important mais secondaire de l'activité (i.e. pas l'une des raisons principales pour entreprendre l'activité). Non orienté vers l'objectif (valeur « 0 ») signifie que l'activité a été examinée au regard de l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme, mais qu'il a été possible de conclure que l'activité ne visait pas cet objectif. Les directives de notification mentionnent aussi que les activités qui sont marquées comme objectif principal ne sont pas « meilleures » que celles qui sont marquées comme objectif significatif. Si la pratique de l'intégration est appliquée, l'égalité homme-femme sera souvent un objectif significatif, comme composante intégrée dans les projets, à travers la gamme des secteurs.

Il faut souligner que le marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme couvre les activités « femmes et développement (WID) » allouées par secteur (pour autant que les critères d'éligibilité soient satisfaits).⁴

Code-objet libellé « femmes et développement (WID) »

Certaines données sur l'aide à l'égalité homme-femme sont identifiées à l'aide de la classification sectorielle à travers une catégorie spécifique libellée « femmes et développement (WID) ». Cette catégorie couvre des activités comme les « projets et programmes plurisectoriels pour les femmes ; promotion et soutien des groupes et des réseaux de femmes ; conférences, séminaires etc. »⁵ De telles activités sont souvent de faible valeur monétaire, ce qui rend cette catégorie à peine visible dans les statistiques standard de l'aide par secteur. En 2003, elle représente 0.1 % des engagements totaux de l'APD bilatérale des membres du CAD. Mais le nombre d'activités (400-600 sur un total de 45000 pour les années les plus récentes), n'est pas négligeable. Certains membres utilisent cette catégorie pour classer les programmes pour les droits des femmes, les actions contre les violences vis-à-vis des femmes, et les activités créatrices de revenus et en faveur de l'entrepreneuriat pour les femmes.

2. Portée du rapport

Les données sur l'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme présentées dans ce rapport se réfèrent aux engagements d'APD bilatérale des membres du CAD en 1999-2003 qui visaient l'égalité homme-femme comme objectif principal ou significatif. Cependant la totalité des catégories d'aide du graphique 1 n'est pas couverte dans ce rapport. L'aide non allouée par secteur est exclue du fait que plusieurs membres n'examinent pas ces formes d'aide du point de vue du marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme.⁶

Le graphique 2 ci-dessous présente l'APD bilatérale totale allouée par secteurs des membres du CAD en 1999-2003 et compare cette répartition sectorielle avec l'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme (objectif principal ou significatif). Il suggère que, toute proportion gardée, les activités dans certains secteurs visent davantage l'égalité homme-femme que les activités dans les autres secteurs. Les secteurs des services sociaux couvrent les deux tiers de l'aide totale visant l'égalité homme-femme (cercle intérieur) alors qu'ils représentent moins de la moitié de l'aide bilatérale totale allouée par secteur (cercle extérieur). L'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme est moins présent dans l'aide aux services et à l'infrastructure économiques et dans les secteurs de production. Une analyse comparable du nombre de transactions notifiées confirme l'importance des secteurs sociaux, en particulier la santé et la population/santé et fertilité.⁷

Étant donnée l'importance sectorielle et l'accent mis sur l'éducation et la santé des femmes dans la Plateforme d'action de Pékin, il a été décidé de centrer le rapport sur ces deux secteurs. Les secteurs de l'éducation de base et de la santé de base (y compris l'aide à la population/santé et fertilité) ont été retenus pour l'analyse approfondie en raison du fait que les notifications des membres sur l'égalité homme-femme sont plus complètes pour ces secteurs que pour l'aide à l'éducation ou l'aide à la santé en général. L'analyse couvre aussi l'aide à la distribution de l'eau et à l'assainissement du fait des liens étroits entre ces secteurs (l'eau propre est une pré condition de la santé, et l'assainissement pour la scolarisation des filles). L'étude de l'aide en appui de l'égalité homme-femme dans les secteurs « gouvernement et société civile » (couvrant en principe les thèmes comme la participation des femmes à la vie politique, la violence contre les femmes, les droits humains des femmes, les femmes et les conflits) mériterait un rapport spécifique. En effet, même si son volume est faible (15% du total), les activités correspondantes sont très nombreuses et variées.

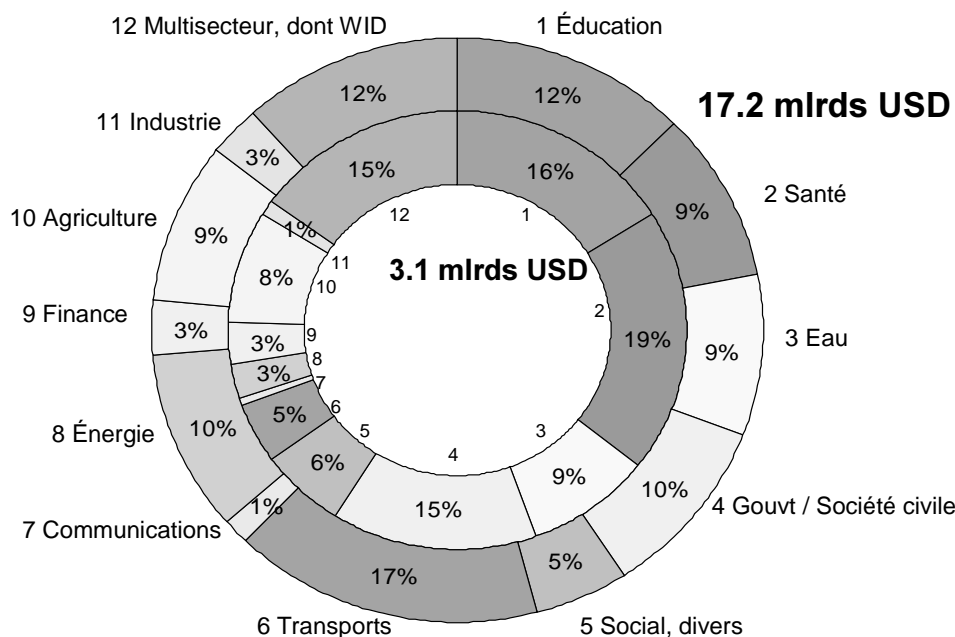

Les activités liées au genre constituent une part plus petite de l'aide dans les autres secteurs, mais restent très significatives dans l'ensemble. Pour donner un aperçu de la variété des formes d'aide qui visent l'égalité homme-femme, la liste des activités jointe à ce rapport couvre l'ensemble des secteurs pour 2002-2003.

Graphique 2. Aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme (cercle intérieur) et APD bilatérale totale allouée par secteur (cercle extérieur) en 1999-2003 : Répartition par secteurs

Valeur annuelle moyenne des engagements couverts : cercle intérieur 3.1 milliards USD, cercle extérieur 17.2 milliards USD

N.B. Graphique basé sur les données des seuls membres qui notifient le marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme (voir le tableau 1) et couvrant 60% de l'APD bilatérale totale allouée par secteur des membres du CAD en 1999-2003.

3. Conseils pour l'analyse et l'interprétation des données du marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme

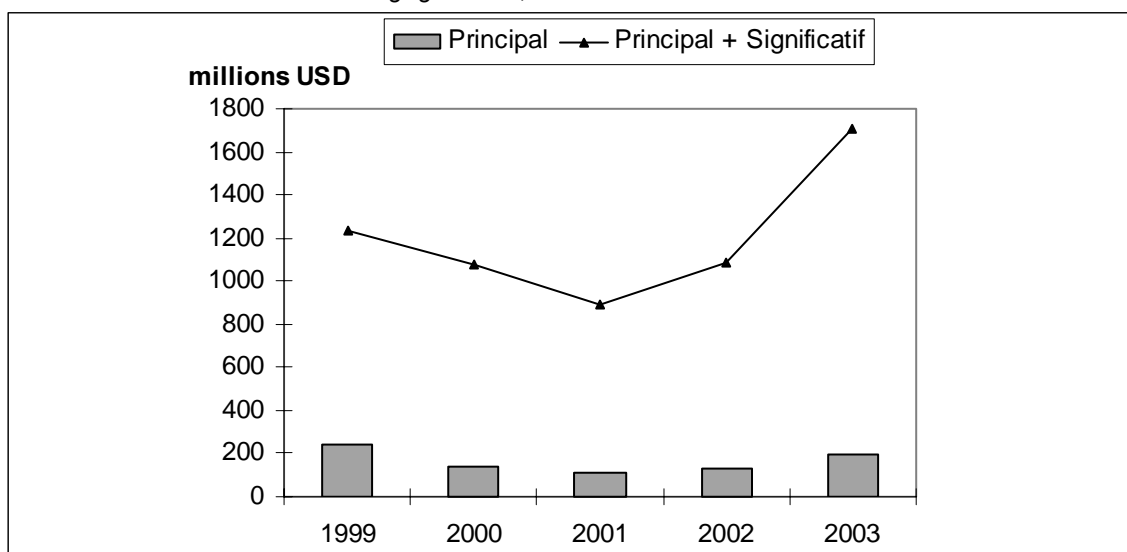

Les données obtenues à l'aide du marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme doivent être considérées comme la meilleure estimation de l'aide que les membres du CAD alloue en appui à l'égalité homme-femme. (Toutes les données sont sur la base des engagements.) L'information financière (i.e. combien sera dépensé pour l'égalité homme-femme) est moins précise pour les activités marquées « objectif significatif » que pour celles marquées « objectif principal ».

- Les activités marquées « objectif principal » peuvent être considérées comme contribuant à l'objectif pour la totalité du montant déclaré.
- Pour les activités marquées « objectif significatif », il est possible que seulement une partie de l'activité vise l'égalité homme-femme, alors que le montant notifié dans la base de données se réfère à l'activité dans son ensemble.⁸

Le graphique 3 ci-dessous illustre cette distinction pour les données marquées dans l'éducation de base, la santé de base (y compris la population/santé et fertilité) et la distribution d'eau et l'assainissement pour les années 1999-2003. Les barres représentent les activités qui ont été marquées « objectif principal » (i.e. les activités qui visent l'égalité homme-femme pour la totalité de leur montant). Les montants des activités qui ont été marquées « objectif significatif » ont été additionnés pour montrer la limite supérieure de l'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme dans ces secteurs. Le montant précis de l'aide contribuant à l'égalité homme-femme se situe entre le haut des barres et la ligne supérieure.

Graphique 3. Aide dans les secteurs de l'éducation de base, la santé de base (y compris la population/santé et fertilité), la distribution d'eau et l'assainissement visant l'égalité homme-femme, en 1999-2003

L'analyse des données doit évidemment prendre en compte la couverture des notifications des donateurs. Le tableau 1 ci-dessous donne une vue d'ensemble de l'état des notifications du marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme en décembre 2004. Quinze membres du CAD déclarent régulièrement des données marquées au SNPC. Pour onze membres les données peuvent être considérées comme raisonnablement complètes. Cinq membres appliquent les marqueurs seulement à une partie de leur programme d'aide bilatérale (généralement aux activités de l'agence d'aide principale). Beaucoup ont défini un seuil pour réduire la charge administrative du marquage ou bien ont décidé de ne pas examiner certaines formes d'aide. Pour sept membres, les données sont manquantes ou très incomplètes. Ce dernier groupe comprenant des donateurs importants comme la France ou les États-Unis, il est difficile de présenter des estimations sur l'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme pour l'ensemble du CAD. Des totaux par donneur peuvent être calculés mais pas pour tous les secteurs.

Espagne	2002	AECI examine les allocations, mais marquage incomplet par les administrations décentralisées. A fourni des estimations pour ce rapport, et identifié certaines limitations dans le système du marqueur « égalité homme-femme ».
États-unis, France, Irlande, Luxembourg	..	Pas de marquage, sauf en 2001 pour les États-Unis. La France a fourni des exemples d'activités visant l'égalité homme-femme (voir en Annexe 3).

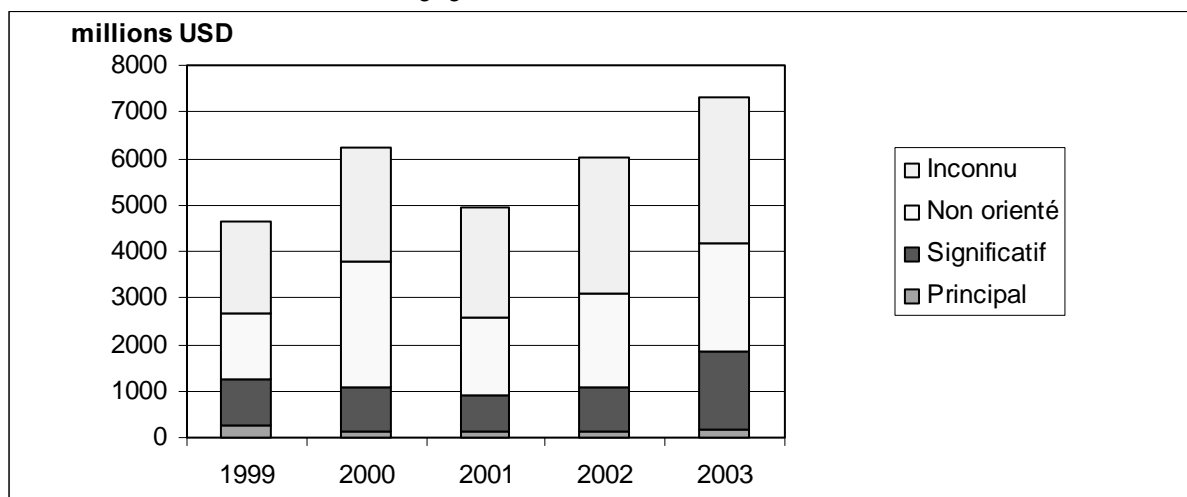

Le graphique 4 ci-dessous présente la couverture des données marquées par rapport à l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme pour les années 1999-2003 dans les secteurs de l'éducation de base, la santé de base (y compris la population/santé et fertilité) et la distribution d'eau et assainissement. Il compare le montant total des activités qui ont été marquées « objectif principal », « objectif significatif » et « non orienté vers l'objectif » avec le montant total des activités qui n'ont pas été examinées par rapport au marqueur et donc pour lesquelles le statut est « inconnu » par rapport à

Les États-Unis ont expliqué que l'une des raisons de non notification vient du grand nombre d'agences et de départements du gouvernement qui interviennent dans la fourniture de l'aide.¹¹ La même explication s'applique à la France. Les pays dont l'administration de l'aide est décentralisée (e.g. Belgique, Espagne) ont fait l'expérience de difficultés dans la collecte de données marquées pour l'égalité homme-femme, en provenance de gouvernements locaux et régionaux, alors que pour d'autres membres c'est la collecte de données sur l'aide aux ONG qui pose problème. Pour l'Irlande, la non notification est liée à un problème du système d'information. Le Luxembourg a incorporé la dimension de l'égalité homme-femme dans les « programmes indicatifs de coopération » signés avec ses 10 pays cible depuis 2002. Il serait en mesure de fournir des données sur les activités d'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme à partir de 2005. Il faut noter qu'en général la définition du marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme ainsi que les critères d'éligibilité s'avèrent assez complexes pour les non spécialistes des questions de genre.

Graphique 4. Couverture des données de l'aide dans les secteurs de l'éducation de base, la santé de base (y compris la population/santé et fertilité) et la distribution d'eau et l'assainissement visant l'égalité homme-femme en 1999-2003
Engagements, millions de USD

Note : Pour réduire la proportion de données « non marquées », les membres dont la notification est manquante ou incomplète par rapport au marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme ont été contactés pour compléter les informations manquantes dans les secteurs spécifiques analysés pour ce rapport. L'Espagne a été en mesure de répondre. La France, l'Irlande, le Luxembourg, la Suisse et les États-Unis ont expliqué qu'ils n'étaient pas en mesure de fournir ces informations. L'Italie n'a pas répondu.

4. Analyse des données

Cette section est basée sur les données marquées par rapport à l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme notifiées par 18 des 23 membres du CAD.¹² Sur la période de 5 ans de 1999 à 2003, ces données représentent 69 % de l'aide totale du CAD à l'éducation de base, 58 % de l'aide à la santé de base, 30 % de l'aide à la population/santé et fertilité et 84 % de l'aide à la distribution d'eau et assainissement.

4.1 Aide à l'éducation de base visant l'égalité homme-femme

La Plateforme d'action de Pékin vise à renforcer le pouvoir des femmes et dans ce contexte définit douze domaines critiques et préoccupants. Elle définit un certain nombre d'objectifs stratégiques pour chacun et suggère que tous les acteurs – gouvernements, communauté internationale et société civile – focalisent leurs actions et leurs ressources dans ce sens. Les inégalités et les inadéquations dans l'éducation et la formation sont l'un de ces domaines de préoccupation. Les objectifs stratégiques correspondants sont définis de la manière suivante : (1) assurer l'égalité de l'accès à l'éducation ; (2) éradiquer l'illettrisme pour les femmes ; (3) améliorer l'accès des femmes à la formation professionnelle, la science et la technologie et la formation continue ; (4) développer l'éducation et la formation de manière non discriminatoire ; et (5) allouer des ressources suffisantes à la mise en œuvre des réformes de l'éducation et à leur suivi.

Les statistiques du CAD sur l'aide à l'éducation donnent certaines indications sur la mesure dans laquelle les allocations d'aide sont orientées vers les cinq objectifs stratégiques. Les définitions des sous catégories du secteur de l'éducation (voir l'Annexe 2) suggèrent que :

- Les actions qui visent à assurer l'égalité d'accès à l'éducation et à éradiquer l'illettrisme pour les femmes sont classées dans l'aide à l'éducation de base.
- Les actions pour améliorer l'accès des femmes à la formation professionnelle, la science et la technologie sont classées dans l'aide à l'éducation secondaire et tertiaire.
- L'aide à l'appui des réformes de l'éducation est classée dans la catégorie « éducation, niveau non spécifié », qui couvre les programmes sectoriels pour l'éducation, l'aide aux ministères de l'éducation et développement des programmes d'études et des matériels pédagogiques (lorsque le niveau d'éducation n'est pas connu).

L'aide à l'éducation représente 14 % de l'aide totale des pays du CAD allouée par secteur en 1999-2003 et l'aide à l'éducation de base 23 % de leur aide totale à l'éducation. Le tableau 2 ci-dessous présente les données des années 1999-2003 pour chaque membre du CAD. Il montre que la tendance de l'aide à l'éducation de base est croissante sur les cinq années, à la fois en termes absolus et relatifs pour la moitié des membres.¹³ Le graphique 5 illustre la part de l'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme dans l'aide à l'éducation de base pour la même période. L'aide allouée à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme comme objectif principal ou comme objectif significatif a diminué pendant la période 1999-2001, mais une augmentation significative est observée en 2003. Le graphique 6 confirme l'absence d'une tendance de la part de l'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme dans l'aide totale à l'éducation de base.

¹³ Pour lisser les variations des engagements dans le temps, le tableau présente la moyenne des engagements sur 2-3 ans.

Les graphiques 5 et 6 sont basés sur les engagements (à la différence des versements). Les engagements peuvent varier de manière importante d'une année sur l'autre, et un examen minutieux est nécessaire avant d'identifier une tendance à partir de quelques années. En fait, l'analyse des données des donateurs individuels au niveau des activités montre que l'augmentation en 2003 s'explique largement par quelques engagements seulement (même si le nombre d'activités à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme a aussi augmenté cette année là).

- Objectif principal : Les Pays-Bas ont engagé 17 millions USD en éducation primaire en Inde. La Suède a notifié ses engagements à l'UNICEF pour un programme d'éducation des filles en Afghanistan et pour le programme sectoriel pour l'éducation en Namibie (15 millions USD chacun).
- Objectif significatif : L'Australie a engagé plus de 40 millions USD pour le développement de l'éducation de base et le développement des capacités en Papouasie-Nouvelle-Guinée. La Norvège a engagé près de 50 millions USD et le Canada plus de 40 millions USD en appui au programme pluri annuel de développement de l'éducation primaire au Bangladesh. Le Royaume-Uni a notifié des montants importants d'engagements pour des programmes sectoriels dans l'éducation au Ghana et en Afrique du Sud (50 millions USD et 32 millions USD respectivement), pour l'éducation primaire d'enfants défavorisés au Viêt Nam et pour l'éducation de base en Chine (43 millions USD chacun).

Il convient de noter que les données présentées ci-dessus mesurent les intentions des donateurs. Le fait qu'une activité ait été marquée comme visant l'égalité homme-femme ne veut pas nécessairement dire qu'il a été possible d'atteindre l'objectif avec cette activité. Tout en restant vrai pour toutes les données présentées dans ce rapport, ce commentaire est particulièrement important pour les montants d'engagements élevés cités ci-dessus, dont un certain nombre correspondent à des programmes sectoriels. Les discussions du réseau du CAD sur l'égalité homme-femme (GENDERNET) ont suggéré que l'intégration d'activités visant l'égalité homme-femme dans des programmes sectoriels reste un défi. Des études de cas issues de l'expérience acquise à ce jour ont montré que de tels programmes dans le secteur de l'éducation ont visé à augmenter la participation des femmes dans la scolarité de base tout en ignorant les conditions plus larges qui expliquent d'abord la faible participation.¹⁴

Les données pour la période complète des 5 ans de 1999-2003 montrent qu'en moyenne, 13% de l'aide à l'éducation de base ont été engagés avec l'égalité homme-femme comme objectif principal. Environ 50% de l'aide à l'éducation de base ont été engagés avec l'égalité homme-femme comme objectif significatif.¹⁵ Les descriptions des activités suggèrent que le premier ensemble comprend essentiellement des programmes d'éducation de base dédiés aux femmes et aux filles. Le second ensemble d'activités vise à soutenir l'éducation primaire en général (construction d'écoles, livres scolaires et autres fournitures, etc.) qui peuvent être une indication d'un effort d'intégration. Le tableau 3 ci-dessous montre la part de l'aide à l'appui de l'égalité homme-femme dans l'aide à l'éducation de base pour les membres du CAD individuels.

4.2 Aide à la santé de base visant l'égalité homme-femme

Un autre aspect critique couvert par la Plateforme d'action de Pékin est relatif à la santé des femmes. La Plateforme d'action attire l'attention sur l'accès inégal aux soins et services de santé de base pour le traitement et la prévention des maladies, mais aussi sur l'inégalité des chances pour la protection, la promotion et le suivi de la santé. Cela soulève de nombreuses interrogations à propos de la santé reproductive telles que : les conséquences des mariages et maternités précoces sur les opportunités d'éducation et d'emploi ; les complications liées aux grossesses et accouchements comme principales causes de mortalité parmi les femmes ; ou encore la vulnérabilité sociale et l'inégalité des relations de pouvoir entre hommes et femmes comme obstacles aux efforts des femmes pour limiter la progression du VIH/sida. La santé des femmes est également considérée sous la perspective des droits de la personne. Dans tous les domaines, l'inégalité¹⁶ est identifiée comme obstacle majeur aux progrès.

Comme dans le cas de l'éducation, la Plateforme d'action établit un certain nombre d'objectifs stratégiques pour guider les acteurs du développement dans leur planification des actions et des ressources. Les objectifs sont classés sous les catégories suivantes : (1) améliorer l'accès des femmes tout au long du cycle de la vie à des soins et services de santé et d'information appropriés, accessibles et de qualité ; (2) renforcer les programmes de prévention qui visent la santé des femmes ; (3) entreprendre des initiatives visant l'égalité homme-femme qui concernent les maladies sexuellement transmissibles, le VIH/sida, et les questions de santé sexuelle et reproductive ; (4) favoriser la recherche et la dissémination d'information sur la santé des femmes ; et (5) augmenter les ressources et assurer le suivi pour la santé des femmes.

Dans les statistiques du CAD, l'aide à l'appui des cinq objectifs stratégiques ci-dessus est généralement classée sous les secteurs de santé ou population/santé et fertilité. Mais des contributions liées à la santé peuvent être trouvées sous d'autres secteurs également. Les programmes de prévention qui visent la santé des femmes pourraient être intégrés à des programmes d'alphabétisation pour adultes, et donc faire partie de l'éducation de base. Assurer l'accès des femmes aux systèmes de sécurité sociale serait compris sous la catégorie des services sociaux. Dans les statistiques du CAD, la distribution d'eau/assainissement constitue un secteur en soi (voir la section 4.3). Cela implique que les statistiques présentées ci-après ne représentent pas l'aide totale des membres du CAD à l'appui des objectifs « santé » de la Plateforme d'action. L'approche adoptée ici est plutôt d'identifier en premier lieu dans les statistiques du CAD des secteurs pertinents vis-à-vis de la Plateforme d'action, puis d'examiner dans quelle mesure les activités d'aide au sein de ces secteurs visent l'égalité homme-femme.

Le tableau 4 ci-dessous présente des données sur l'aide des membres du CAD à la santé, santé de base et population/santé et fertilité pour les années 1999-2003.¹⁷ L'aide à la santé représentait 7% de l'aide totale des membres du CAD allouée par secteur en 1999-2003, et l'aide à la santé/fertilité 5 %. Au sein du secteur santé, on observe une concentration sur la santé de base. Sa part dans l'aide totale à la santé a augmenté de 53% en 1999-2000 à 62% en 2001-2003.

Le graphique 7 illustre la prise en compte de l'objectif d'égalité homme-femme dans l'aide à la santé de base sur la même période. Les allocations qui visaient l'égalité homme-femme comme objectif principal ont diminué, alors que les allocations pour lesquelles cet objectif était significatif montrent une tendance plus positive. À l'inverse du secteur de l'éducation de base, ce ne sont pas des engagements de grande valeur qui expliquent les variations d'une année sur l'autre. Les montants déclarés par les donateurs individuels sont restés relativement stables sur la période.

Engagements, millions de USD

Pour les 18 membres du CAD qui ont fourni des données sur le marqueur égalité homme-femme pour l'aide à la santé de base, sur la période de cinq ans 1999-2003, en moyenne 5% de l'aide à la santé de base visait l'égalité homme-femme comme objectif principal, et 37% comme objectif significatif.¹⁸

- Une grande part des activités marquées avec un objectif principal sont relatives à des soins maternels et infantiles (programmes pour une maternité sans risque, construction de maternités ou financement d'équipements associés) mais des programmes de soins de santé de base en général ont également été déclarés.
- Les activités marquées avec un objectif significatif couvrent aussi bien le financement d'infrastructures de santé de base et d'équipements hospitaliers que des programmes de lutte contre la tuberculose, la rougeole et d'autres maladies contagieuses. Les activités les plus importantes comprennent les programmes sectoriels dans la santé en Ouganda et en Zambie, le soutien aux infrastructures et services de santé de base en Inde, et le programme national de nutrition au Bangladesh (plusieurs donateurs sont impliqués dans ces activités).

L'aide dans le secteur de population/santé et fertilité semble viser plus fortement l'égalité homme-femme avec 11% du montant total des activités marquées avec l'objectif principal et 50% avec l'objectif significatif en 1999-2003.¹⁹ (Voir le tableau 6 ci-dessous pour les données par donneurs individuels.) Le graphique 8 illustre la tendance positive. La hausse significative en 2003 doit s'expliquer par l'augmentation en général du financement des activités de lutte contre le VIH/sida. Dans le secteur population/santé et fertilité, plus de la moitié du montant total des activités marquées comme objectif principal, et plus de 60% des activités marquées comme objectif significatif contribuaient à la lutte contre le VIH/sida.

contribution à l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme n'est pas connue. Le fait que les États-Unis, de loin le plus grand donneur dans ces deux secteurs, ne soit pas en mesure de notifier le marqueur sur l'égalité homme-femme empêche de faire une analyse complète.²¹ L'absence de données pour la France, un autre grand donneur, aurait les mêmes conséquences dans d'autres secteurs, tels l'éducation. De même, la situation de donateurs moins importants pourrait également avoir cet effet pour des analyses au niveau de pays bénéficiaires individuels.

4.3 Aide au secteur distribution d'eau et assainissement visant l'égalité homme-femme

La Plateforme d'action de Pékin comporte seulement une référence au secteur de la distribution d'eau et de l'assainissement. Elle note qu'un accès inadéquat aux installations de distribution d'eau et d'assainissement, particulièrement dans les zones rurales ou urbaines pauvres, a un effet négatif sur la santé des femmes. C'est certainement le cas, mais les maladies transmises par l'eau ne sont qu'une des conséquences de la privation d'eau. La responsabilité de porter l'eau pour les usages domestiques et ruraux revient principalement aux femmes. C'est une tâche laborieuse qui demande beaucoup de temps, plus les femmes passent du temps à porter l'eau et moins elles peuvent se consacrer à des activités génératrices de revenus. Dans certaines régions, le portage de l'eau peut être la raison pour laquelle les filles ne peuvent pas aller à l'école. De plus, l'étude de la promotion de l'égalité homme-femme dans le cadre des activités d'aide liées au secteur de l'eau ne devrait pas se limiter aux usages domestiques de l'eau, mais considérer aussi ses utilisations productives. L'eau est nécessaire pour la production agricole, l'élevage, et plusieurs petites industries et artisanats (par exemple fabrication de briques ou poterie). L'irrigation peut donc être un moyen d'améliorer la vie des femmes pauvres. En conséquence, les activités d'aide dans le secteur de l'eau visant l'égalité homme-femme peuvent non seulement être liées aux aspects « santé » de la Plateforme d'action de Pékin, mais également à la question « femme et pauvreté ».

Le tableau 7 ci-dessous présente les engagements moyens annuels des membres du CAD dans le secteur de la distribution d'eau et d'assainissement²² pour les années 1999-2003. Les graphiques 11 et 12 illustrent leurs contributions à l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme. A l'inverse des autres secteurs examinés dans ce rapport, il n'y a pas de grande différence entre les activités marquées comme objectif principal ou significatif. Les descriptions d'activités indiquent que l'aide dans le secteur de l'eau visant l'égalité homme-femme consiste principalement en des programmes de distribution d'eau et d'assainissement en zone rurale. Les activités « non orientées » vers cet objectif comprennent d'importants projets d'infrastructure, parfois d'une valeur de centaines de millions de USD.

En moyenne, 18% de l'aide totale dans le secteur de l'eau en 1999-2003 a été marquée avec un objectif significatif.²³ La part a varié quelque peu d'une année à l'autre. Le Tableau 8 montre les positions des membres individuels.

²³ La part calculée sur la base du nombre d'activités était de 22%.

(Le montant total des activités non examinées par rapport au marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme est montré pour référence, mais est exclu dans les calculs des pourcentages ci-dessous. Voir la note 10.)

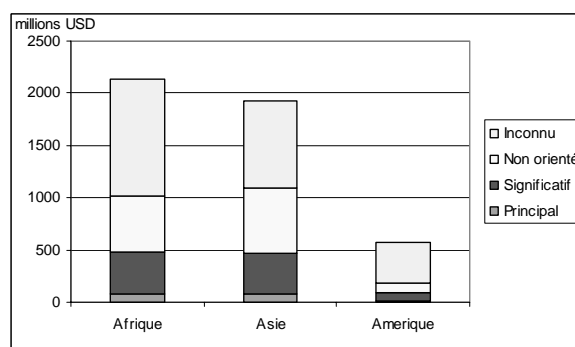

- L'aide à l'éducation de base est davantage orientée vers l'égalité homme-femme en Afrique et en Amérique (du Sud et centrale) qu'en Asie. Dans les premières régions, deux tiers de l'aide à l'éducation de base est marquée « objectif principal ou significatif » alors qu'en Asie la proportion est de 57%.
- Pour la santé de base, l'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme ne présente pas de différence entre les régions : dans chaque région, la moitié de l'aide vise l'égalité homme-femme.
- L'Afrique est de loin le principal continent bénéficiaire de l'aide à la population/santé et fertilité, mais l'objectif de l'égalité homme-femme y est légèrement moins visé (63%) qu'en Asie ou en Amérique (78% et 70% respectivement).
- L'aide dans le secteur de l'eau vise fortement l'égalité homme-femme en Afrique : plus de la moitié de l'aide dans le secteur de l'eau vise l'égalité homme-femme dans cette région, alors le pourcentage s'élève seulement à 10% en Asie (principal bénéficiaire pour ce secteur) et à 19% en Amérique.

- L'aide à l'éducation de base vise fortement l'égalité homme-femme dans tous les groupes (67% pour les PRI, 64% pour les PMA, et 58% pour les autres PFR).
- L'aide à la santé de base vise moins l'égalité homme-femme dans les autres PFR (35%) que dans les PMA et les PRI où la moitié de l'aide est marquée « objectif principal ou significatif ».
- L'aide à la population/santé et fertilité vise fortement l'égalité homme-femme dans tous les groupes, particulièrement les PMA (75% pour les PMA, 64% pour les autres PFR et 55% pour les PRI).
- L'aide dans le secteur de l'eau et l'assainissement ne vise pas fortement l'égalité homme-femme en général, sauf dans le cas des PMA, où la moitié de l'aide vise l'égalité homme-femme (18% pour les PFR et 12% pour les PRI).

5. Aide multilatérale visant l'égalité homme-femme

L'analyse de l'aide bilatérale des membres du CAD visant l'égalité homme-femme doit être complétée par l'examen de leur aide multilatérale à l'appui de cet objectif. La principale agence des Nations unies (NU) active dans ce domaine est le Fonds de développement des NU pour les femmes (UNIFEM) mais le Fonds des NU pour la population (FNUAP) et l'UNICEF réalisent aussi de nombreuses activités visant l'égalité homme-femme.

- L'UNIFEM oeuvre à la promotion de l'égalité entre les hommes et les femmes et à l'amélioration de la condition des femmes.
- Le mandat du FNUAP couvre les questions de population et de santé et fertilité. Il vise à promouvoir l'égalité homme-femme à travers des actions dans les domaines suivants : développement du pouvoir des femmes, violence et genre, pratiques dommageables, trafic humain, genre et VIH/sida.

Le tableau 9 ci-dessous présente les données sur les contributions²⁴ des membres du CAD au budget régulier de l'UNIFEM en 1999-2003. Le montant moyen total de 20 millions de USD peut être comptabilisé en totalité comme visant l'égalité homme-femme (mais ce montant ne se limite pas aux secteurs couverts dans ce rapport). En revanche, les contributions aux budgets réguliers du FNUAP et de l'UNICEF sont utilisées seulement en partie pour des programmes visant l'égalité homme-femme. Les agences multilatérales ne notifient pas le marqueur de l'égalité homme-femme au SNPC, aussi leur part dans le total n'est pas connue. Si cette part est estimée en utilisant les informations sur l'aide bilatérale des membres du CAD visant l'égalité homme-femme, il convient d'ajouter pour les secteurs couverts par cette étude un montant de l'ordre de 200 millions d'USD pour évaluer l'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme du FNUAP et de l'UNICEF.²⁵

DÉFINITION	L'égalité homme-femme comme objectif du développement et de l'aide au développement vise à atteindre l'égalité des avantages, des ressources et des chances entre les hommes et les femmes dans les pays bénéficiaires de l'aide. Les disparités entre les sexes peuvent être diminuées par : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) l'intégration de l'égalité homme-femme dans tous les efforts de coopération au développement ; et/ou (b) les actions positives en faveur de l'égalité homme-femme incorporant les activités spécifiques pour les femmes.
CRITÈRES D'ÉLIGIBILITÉ	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) L'égalité homme-femme et/ou la participation des femmes au développement (WID) est explicitement mise en évidence dans la documentation concernant l'activité ; et (b) Une étude en faveur de l'égalité homme-femme a été effectuée soit séparément soit comme part intégrale des procédures standards, démontrant le besoin de promouvoir l'égalité et/ou la participation des femmes au développement (WID) ; et (c) Une étude en faveur de l'égalité homme-femme a été incorporée à la conception de l'activité de manière que l'activité remplit un ou plusieurs des critères suivants : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Les différences de stratégie selon le sexe et le plan de suivi sont intégrées dans l'activité et reflétées dans le budget de l'activité. – Des moyens spécifiques ont été définis pour aider les femmes à surmonter les obstacles à leur pleine participation dans l'activité. – Des moyens spécifiques ont été inclus pour assumer un partage équitable du résultat de l'activité entre hommes et femmes. – Des indicateurs fiables d'impact selon le sexe ont été ou seront développés pour le suivi et l'évaluation. – Des connaissances sur les questions d'égalité sont utilisées lors de la conception, l'exécution et le suivi de l'activité. – Des consultations sur le problème d'égalité homme-femme sont menées sur tous les niveaux et dans toutes les phases.

Égalité homme-femme incorporant la participation des femmes au développement (WID) : note supplémentaire sur le marquage

1. Ce marqueur diffère du marqueur WID précédent du fait qu'il se concentre sur l'égalité homme-femme (c'est-à-dire, l'égalité entre les hommes et les femmes) comme objectif plutôt que sur les femmes comme un groupe cible.
2. Cependant, il comprend les activités WID (à condition que les critères d'éligibilité soient satisfaits). Les activités spécifiques au regard des femmes sont incorporées dans une approche générale de l'égalité homme-femme. Par conséquent, le nouveau marqueur est plus général que le marqueur WID précédent. (Comme auparavant, le code secteur WID peut être utilisé quand il est approprié.) Les Membres qui n'utilisent plus le terme WID dans leurs procédures internes doivent ignorer toutes les références à ce terme dans la définition du marqueur ainsi que dans les critères d'éligibilité.
3. Une étude en faveur de l'égalité homme-femme peut être effectuée au niveau du pays (par exemple, profils selon le sexe), de la communauté ou de l'institution. Elle peut être effectuée soit séparément, soit comme partie des procédures standard (processus de conception). Elle est probablement plus efficace lorsqu'elle est une partie intégrée dans le processus de planification des politiques, des programmes et des projets.
4. La valeur « objectif principal » pour le marqueur l'égalité homme-femme n'est pas « meilleure » que la valeur « objectif significatif », même si la première est codée « 2 » et la seconde « 1 ». Si l'objectif est réellement intégré à la politique de l'aide, l'égalité homme-femme est souvent un objectif significatif des projets couvrant tous les secteurs.
5. L'égalité homme-femme est explicitement mise en évidence dans la documentation concernant l'activité. Cela veut dire que la documentation doit clairement montrer les mesures qui seront entreprises pour atteindre cet objectif à long terme. Par exemple, un projet d'écoles primaires pourrait être conçu pour aussi bien les garçons que les filles mais, comme la proportion des filles recevant de l'éducation primaire est inférieure par rapport à celle des garçons, le projet contiendra des mesures pour augmenter la proportion des filles. Pour se voir attribuée une valeur à ce marqueur, une activité doit avoir comme but de promouvoir l'égalité homme-femme même si l'égalité absolue peut être en dehors de la portée de l'activité. Le concept de l'égalité homme-femme reconnaît le fait qu'en raison de conditions de vie différentes ainsi que pour compenser la discrimination antérieure, un traitement différent des problèmes des hommes et des femmes peut être nécessaire afin d'arriver aux mêmes résultats.
6. La valeur « objectif principal » est normalement attribuée à un projet qui n'aurait pas été réalisé sans l'objectif égalité homme-femme. L'exemple ci-dessous explique la distinction entre l'objectif principal et l'objectif significatif.
 - a) Après avoir effectué une étude en faveur de l'égalité homme-femme, il a été remarqué que la majorité des paysans dans une région sont des femmes. Un projet de vulgarisation agricole a pour but de recruter et former un grand nombre de femmes pour qu'elles aient un accès égal à ces services. Ce projet se verrait attribué la valeur objectif principal (i.e. « 2 ») pour le marqueur égalité homme-femme incorporant la participation des femmes au développement (WID).
 - b) Un projet de vulgarisation agricole a été planifié avec l'objectif d'augmenter la production agricole d'une région. Lors de la conception de l'activité, l'étude en faveur de l'égalité homme-femme montrait le besoin d'entreprendre des actions spécifiques pour les femmes. Une coopérative de production de légumes a été établie comme composante du projet. Ce projet se verrait attribué la valeur objectif significatif (i.e. « 1 ») pour le marqueur égalité homme-femme incorporant la participation des femmes au développement (WID).
7. Chaque Membre, en fonction de sa propre organisation et de circonstances particulières, peut déterminer le nombre de critères qui doivent être remplis pour qu'une activité puisse être classée selon ce marqueur.

ANNEXE 3. Exemples d'activités d'aide visant l'égalité homme-femme financées par la France

Les systèmes statistiques de la France ne permettent pas la notification du marqueur égalité homme-femme. Pour cette étude la France a fourni toutefois des exemples sur les activités d'aide visant cet objectif. Les activités suivantes ont été financées par le Ministère des affaires étrangères en 1999-2003 :

- € 2.1 millions, à travers le FNUAP, pour renforcer les actions en matière de santé de la reproduction et pour valoriser l'image de la femme et de la jeune fille (Côte d'Ivoire, Madagascar) ;
- € 1.5 millions, à travers le BIT, pour renforcer la protection sociale des femmes du secteur informel (Burkina Faso, Éthiopie et Viêt-Nam) ;
- € 2.3 millions, à travers l'UNICEF, pour renforcer les droits des enfants - programme dédié à la lutte contre les mutilations génitales féminines et contre l'exploitation sexuelle des enfants (Cap Vert, Cameroun, Ghana, Guinée, Tchad et République centrafricaine) ;
- € 2.3 millions, à travers l'UNIFEM, pour promouvoir les droits des femmes (Algérie, Maroc, Tunisie, Jordanie, Liban et Territoires palestiniens) ;
- € 1.2 millions pour promouvoir l'égalité homme-femme dans le cadre de la reconstruction de l'Afghanistan (« jardin des femmes » et « l'institut des femmes » à Kaboul) ;
- € 0.7 million en soutien du projet de coopération sud-sud entre la Tunisie et le Niger concernant la santé de la reproduction et l'éducation sexuelle des adolescents ;
- € 0.7 million en soutien des ONG locales d'Europe de l'Est et du Sud-Est oeuvrant pour l'accès des femmes aux droits et à la citoyenneté et pour la lutte contre les trafics dont les femmes sont victimes.

LIST 2. CRS sectors

The Purpose of Aid

The DAC statistics on the purpose of aid cover the sector of destination and the policy objective(s) of aid. Data are collected on individual commitments in the Creditor Reporting System (CRS), and in the form of annual commitment aggregates in the DAC Questionnaire.

The sector of destination of a contribution is selected by answering the question "which specific area of the recipient's economic or social structure is the transfer intended to foster". Some contributions are not susceptible to allocation by sector are classified as non-sector allocable aid.

The policy objectives of aid contributions are tracked across all sectors. Presently, data are collected on Gender equality incorporating Women in development, Aid to environment, Participatory Development/Good Governance, and Rio Conventions. A distinction is made between contributions not targeted to the objective, or that target it as "a significant objective" or as "a principal objective".

The CRS and the DAC purpose classifications are related. The content of the DAC sector classification is defined through the CRS purpose codes. As a consequence, the DAC aggregate statistics can be linked up with the more detailed CRS data, thereby allowing for examination of the geographical and purpose distribution of aid simultaneously.

LISTE 2. Secteurs SNPC

L'objet de l'aide

Les statistiques du CAD sur l'objet de l'aide recouvrent le secteur de destination ainsi que le ou les objectif(s) de la politique de l'aide. La notification s'effectue transaction par transaction dans le Système de notification des pays créanciers (SNPC) et sous forme d'agrégats annuels d'engagements dans le questionnaire du CAD.

La réponse à la question « dans quels domaines particuliers de l'économie ou de la structure sociale du pays bénéficiaire ce transfert va-t-il stimuler le développement ? » détermine le secteur de destination d'un projet d'aide. Certaines contributions ne peuvent être ventilées par secteur et sont notifiées comme contributions non imputables par secteur.

Les objectifs de la politique de l'aide couvrent tous les secteurs. Des données sont actuellement collectées sur « l'égalité hommes-femmes incorporant la participation des femmes au développement », « l'aide à l'environnement », « développement participatif/bonne gestion des affaires publiques » et les Conventions de Rio. Une distinction est faite entre les contributions qui « ne sont pas orientées vers l'objectif », celles pour lesquelles « l'objectif est significatif » et celles pour lesquelles « l'objectif est principal ».

Les classifications SNPC et CAD sont apparentées. La classification sectorielle du CAD est définie à travers les codes secteurs du SNPC. En conséquence, les montants agrégés dans les statistiques du CAD peuvent être liés avec les données plus détaillées du SNPC, permettant un examen simultané de la répartition géographique et sectorielle de l'aide.
