

OECD Trust Survey 2021-2023 Public Use Microdata File Terms of Use

To request access to the OECD Trust Survey Public Use Microdata for research, please fill out these Terms of Use and submit a signed version to govtrustinfo@oecd.org.

The following terms and conditions apply in order for you to use the Trust Survey Public Use Microdata File belonging to the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

- The OECD Trust Survey Public Use Microdata File may be used only for non-profit purposes.
- Users agree to use the following citation when referring to the data.
OECD (2023), OECD Survey on Drivers of Trust in Public Institutions: 2023 Public Use Microdata File. Available via <http://oe.cd/trust>.
- Users may not redistribute or share the data file in any form with any other parties. Additional users working jointly on the microdata for the same research project need to be listed separately and provide their signature as well.
- OECD Trust Survey data have been de-identified to prevent the identification of individual survey participants. Users must prevent any and all actions aimed at or likely to result in the re-identification of survey participants in the dataset. Users further agree to implement appropriate measures to secure the data. The presentation or publication of individual entries, even without direct reference to individual persons, is prohibited; and for summary statistics in publications, a minimum sample size of N=20 is to be respected. In case any entries in the provided data become re-identified, even if not the result of intentional actions, the user is obligated to take appropriate steps to minimise privacy risks to identified individuals and inform the OECD Trust Survey team (govtrustinfo@oecd.org) immediately.
- Users agree to share published results based in part or entirely on the Trust Survey data file with the OECD team (govtrustinfo@oecd.org). The OECD Trust Survey team reserves the rights to publish the citations on the OECD Trust Survey website (<https://www.oecd.org/governance/trust-in-government/>).
- The OECD bears no responsibility for any use of the data or for any interpretations, analyses or inferences based upon using the data. Users agree to add a footnote with a disclaimer on the first page of their publication: 'This work uses the OECD Survey on Drivers of Trust in Public Institutions (2023). Its content reflects solely the work and opinions of the author(s). Neither the OECD nor its member countries bear any responsibility for any interpretations, analyses or inferences based upon using the data.'
- The general Terms and Conditions for OECD data usage are available at: <https://www.oecd.org/termsandconditions/>
- The OECD privacy policy is available at: <http://www.oecd.org/privacy/>

Intended use of the data

Please describe your research project using the microdata in detail (research question and methodology, including whether the data are used for cross-country vs. country specific analysis and what level of sub-group analysis, if any, will be carried out):

Planned outputs of the research project:

Expected completion date of the research project: _____

Signature implies adherence to the Terms and Conditions outlined for the use of the OECD Trust Survey data.

Name _____
Affiliation _____
Country _____
Signature _____
Date _____